Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

That Congress did nothing at the special session save pass the mileage perquisit bills and failed signally to do anything to alleviate the Roosevelt "recession." If Congress during its regular session extending from January to sometime next summer, continues to do nothing, business will have a breathing spell to be sure, but recovery will be postponed. Complete recovery need not be expected until tax laws are amended to be less onerous, until the pretentions of the National Labor Board are reduced to legalities by the Supreme Court, until the wages and hours bills are definitely dead and buried, instead of in a state of coma as they are now, until a reasonable and practical bill is passed to place the farming industry on something like parity with the manufacturing industry.

On the whole, despite the New Deal penchant for expensive and hazardous reforms, we surmise that the worst is over. We have been 125 million guinea pigs for four years, most of the sturdy little fellows have survived, though withal somewhat emaciated and weak from the experiments. Most economists predict that we have hit bottom, will stay at the bottom for six months or more, that in the meantime living costs will subside, unemployment increase, and labor quarrels will retire to the back pages among unimportant matters.

An increase of unemployment means that John L. Lewis will have to bide his time in watchful waiting, and pending another business upturn wages will generally decline. In times of intermittent employment or no employment, members drop out of their unions and treasuries of national labor organizations suffer. Under these conditions organization work among workers lags. It would be far better if steady and constant effort were made to educate workers to their need of organization, making their dues and assessments only enough to maintain an efficient staff of experts to advise and assist the membership, making unions economically attractive to all intelligent workers instead of applying, in many instances, one or another form of coercion upon the workers themselves.

In time we believe the National Labor Board by reason of legal definitions rendered by the courts of its powers and authority, should be able to do a good job of maintaining industrial peace. Until recently, however, organized labor itself, at least so far as John L. Lewis unions were concerned has shown a disposition to repudiate the board's good offices with the more direct strike and boycott. The Labor Board itself seems to conceive of its function as the champion of labor only, with scant consideration given to the men who provide the jobs. If this attitude is maintained for any length of time, and employers become discouraged and despair of obtaining settlements which are of mutual benefit to both sides of the dispute, we can safely predict that some businesses will close their doors rather than submit to injustice. In that alternative lies the eventual defeat of this experiment. A Labor Board which vacates jobs will not last long.

Generally speaking success in improving living conditions for special groups, such as agriculture and industrial workers, makes life more difficult for the unorganized, which after all are in the majority. Legislation which suddenly dislocates living conditions reacts oppressively upon the whole people. If we were to summarize our complaint of the New Deal in one word, it would be "haste." It is the wasteful haste which most of the New Deal's reforms have been enacted ,without giving all factors careful scrutiny. that today has resulted in putting this country back where it was two years ago, and unless Congress wisely agrees to do something of a real remedial character in the coming session, it may put us back to the conditions of 1932 and 1933. So far as the President is concerned, we feel certain that only the threat of a "Roosevelt depression" of a magnitude equal to that of the "Hoover depression" will halt his wasteful experiments. Congress must act constructively.

NEW YEARS EVE DINNER-DANCE AT ELKS LODGE

Nevada City Lodge of Elks, No. 518 is initiating its first annual New Years eve dinner-dance and show this evening. The entertainment is making great festive plans. Fine eats, fine music, fine show. Dinner will be served at 10:30 p. m. Tables will be placed about the spacious lodge hall and banquet room and there will be plenty of space for dancing. The reservation list has been open for a week and nearly all have been spoken for.

Otto E. Schiffner, superintendent of the Lava Cap mine, has engaged a large table and will have as his guests all salaried men of the mine and their wives. This will include a group of about fifty.

SHERIFF PROBES DEATH OF WOMAN

Edna Stewart, well known in Nevada City's night life, passed away at the county hospital yesterday morning at 5:30 o'clock under conditions which prompted Sheriff Carl Tobiassen to make an investigation of the circumstances prior to her death. The woman, 30 years old, was removed from My Place Tuesday night where she had been for some time, apparently desperately ill. She was given a room at the New York hotel, but she grew steadily worse and was finally removed on Wednesday to the county hospital. She recovered consciousness Wednesday sufficiently to give her name to hospital attendants.

Following her death under authority of the coroner, an autopsy was held which revealed that she had died of acute enlargement of the stomach caused by excessive alcoholism. Bruises were found on her body which led the sheriff to make inquiries among all those who were with her during the last three days of her life.

SACTO. ROTARY PAYS TRIBUTE TO FRED CONNER

An unexpected and gratifying tribute to his past activities in Sacramento civic life was received just before Christmas by Fred Conner, president of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, from Harry J. Devine, president of the Sacramento Rotary club. Mr. Conner years ago was one of the members and officers of that organization. The letter follows:

Dear Fred:

In looking over the roster of some of the old timers, who had served our club in a big and unselfish sense, I came to yours, and the truly marvelous part in our behalf you had in actually giving the Boy Scouts to Sacramento, in spite of several fruitless efforts by several other organizations of this city.

Those still active in Boy Scout work, as well as those who were in the Rotary fold at that time, cannot, and will not forget the dominant and enthusiastic effort you made in behalf of this great organization for boys; and while you have been away from Sacramento for a number of years, we know, that wherever you are, you still will continue this splendid interest in their behalf.

Therefore Fred, as the President of the club, I can conceive of no better time, with the approach of Christmastide; nor no better theme than to remind you of this wonderful contribution you had made, which we in turn shall long revere and appreciate, as the handiwork and unselfish service in behalf of the struggling youth of this broad land.

MRS. CATHERINE PENROSE FUNERAL TODAY 2 O'CLOCK

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Catherine Penrose will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. E. J. Gray of the Methodist church officiating. The services will be held at Holmes Funeral Home Mrs. Lyda Talbot will sing at the service.

VARIETY SHOW AT ROTARY CLUB

The Rotary club at luncheon yesterday enjoyed excellent vaudeville pragrom of which George Chaney was chairman. There were many visitors and several Rotarians from other clubs. Bill Cain, who resigned from the presidency of the Nevada City club last October returned and stated that he had maintained his membership locally 100 per cent by attendance at other clubs. He presented each member with a bottle of "Sparkling Retreat Mineral Water," one of the famous products of Shasta country with the sale of which he is now engaged.

The entertainment consisted of several concertina selections by Frank Cartoscelli, tap dancing by two young girls, Betty Andrews and Gloria Gilgen, two songs by Julia Freeman, ten years old, and buck and wing dancing by the program chairman, George Chaney. All of variety numbers were much enjoyed by the club.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS PARTY

The Sunday school classes of Rev. H. H. Buckner and Mrs. Jessie Johnston in the Methodist church enjoyed a party in the church parlors Wednesday evening. The A Capella choir sang Silent Night and Joy to the World. Those in the choir were Flossie Angove, Marjory Phariss, Beryl Godfrey, Helen Arbogast, Fred Garrison, Bill Rickard, Tom Rickard, Phil Angove, Melvin Clark. Miss Arbogast was accompanist.

OMEGA GRAVEL PROPERTY

Theodore Larsen, in charge of the Omega gravel property, and Mrs. Larsen were Nevada City visitors yesterday. Five more men have been added to the payroll making a crew of 60. Work continues on the eight miles of ditch, flumes and debris dam. Water will be brought from the South Yuba river east of Washington for sluicing. A bunk house and boarding house have been completed and it is expected sluicing will start late in the spring.

A family reunion was enjoyed at the Charles Genasci home in Willow Valley over the past week end. Present for the Christmas day celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Christensen, Amiel Allen of Nevada City; Frank Wright, Sacramento; Misses Fay and Josephine Genasci, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Genasci.

Tahoe Forest Service, Personnel and Payroll, Is a Major Asset

Outranking many of the larger mining companies in Nevada County in both number of men employed and monthly payroll, is the Forest Service of Tahoe Forest with its headquarters in this city.

During an interview with Forest Supervisor DeWitt Nelson yesterday it was learned that during last summer 277 persons were employed with a monthly payroll totaling $24,138, and now in the middle of winter 232 employed with a payroll of $18,386. In addition to these and augmenting the fire fighting and fire prevention activities of the Forest Service are 330 CCC boys who are paid by the War Department.

During 1937 the Tahoe Forest Service sold 31,089,000 board feet on the stump, which brought in a revenue of $47,755.32 and 15,824 Christmas trees which returned $4,252.56 to the Forest Service. For these two items the total is $52,027.88.

Grazing permits on 639,513 acres of U. S. lands in theTahoe Forest for cattle and sheep, plus 597,415 of private land which under an arrangement with owners is handled through the Forest Service, brought in a total of $9,670. Cattle grazed in the area numbered 8,528 and sheep reached the enormous total of 68,239.

From special uses of the forest such as ground rent for summer homes, resorts, etc., the Forest Service in 1937 derived $4,197, or a grand total from all principal sources of revenue, amounting to $65,994.88.

There are in the Tahoe Forest, Mr. Nelson states, a total of 639,513 acres, with a total stand of 5,323,625,000 board feet. On private holdings with the Forest covering an area of 597,415 acres the timber stand totols 3,218,625,000 board feet or a total of 8,542,437,000 board feet.

In the Tahoe Forest are 2,271 miles of roads and 1,400 miles of trails, and the telephone lines, which form a network permitting communication every part of the great region, stretch out to 720 miles.

Leland Smith, who has charge of grazing permits recently took a census of wild life in Tahoe Forest and his figures follow: Deer 12,000, black bear 5,000, coyote 5,500, lynz and wild cats 1,500, mountain lions 42, wolves 4, foxes 2,3000, martin 2,200, mink 1,000 badger 1,000 weazel 2,700, fisher 100, skunk 800, raccoon 60.

Deer killed in the Tahoe Forest during 1937 numbered 1,000, bear 11, predatory animals—coyotes 705, mountain lions 6, bobcat and lynx 82.

One of the big important projects undertaken by Supervisor Nelson and his staff during the past year has been the reseedin ogf 18,000 acres of forest land which was thoroughly burned over a year ago last fall at Forest Hill.

In December, 1936, 1,728 acres were reseeded, and in November, 1937, 309 acres were reseeded making a total of 2,037 acres of this scarred tract which have been reseeded. A very large proportion of the burned tract shows natural seeding. Of the reseeding done by the Forest Service there has been 30 percent germination, which is accounted unusually good. Some of the seedlings grew as much as six inches the first year.

The total cost of this reseeding to date has been but $4,446.

Of importance to Nevada City is the fact that the Forest Service maintains here the largest and best equipped depot, workshops, and warehousing for the entire Tahoe Forest. The plant is superior in most respects to that of any other Forest Service area in California. The cost of the buildings and other improvements totals $24,500.63. Approximately $10,000 has been expended in bringing this plant up to date since Supervisor Nelson took charge a year and a half ago. Every needed convenience for quick work in repairing and conditioning all the varied equipment, has been installed. Repair shops for auotmotive equipment are the best of their kind. For fire fighting the Forest Service store rooms contain such items as 1,000 shovels, as many picks and axes, the best and heaviest pruning shears for dealing with small brush in a battle with the flames, thousands of feet of hose for pumpers when water is available. It is a great, modern plant in which several men are constantly employed.

Twenty-Third Psalm, Up-to-Date

Mr. Roosevelt is my shepherd, I am in want.
He maketh me to lie down on park benches.
He leadeth me beside the still factories.
He disturbeth my soul.

He leadeth me in the paths of destruction
For the Party's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of Depression, I anticipate no recovery.

For he is with us. His policies and diplomacies
They frighten me.
He prepareth a reduction in my salary in the Presence of mine enemies.

He annoyeth my small income with taxes.
My expenses runneth over.
Surely, unemployment and poverty shall follow me
All the days of his administration.

And I shall dwell in mortgaged houses
Forever and ever.

STATE TEACHERS HAVE NEW HEAD

James N. Garner, class room teacher of Sacramento on January 1 succeeds Charles K. Price of Orland as president of the California Teachers Association, northern section. Price's successor was elected last November at the institute in Sacramento.

Gardner this week conferred with Mrs. Portia F. Moss, secretary of the organization, who was re-elected at the November meeting. He expects to announce committee appointment shortly to carry on the many activities of the organization.

FIREMEN'S BALL AT ARMORY THIS EVENING

The Nevada City Fire Department is anticipating a record attendance at its annual Fireman's Ball at the Armory Hall tonight. More people than usual have indicated their intention of appearing in unusual costumes. The prizes offered by the merchants of Nevada City, the firemen and others are enough to tempt anyone to try for them. A number of old-time citizens who haven't appeared at the annual ball for several years will be there this year and this will add to the good old time New Years spirit.

R. R. Goyne, program chairman has arranged a short but fine program for the evening which follows:

Parade of the Wooden oldiers by pupils of the Nevada City fourth grade school, under the direction of Mrs. Marion Libbey.
Fred Pinch, Juevnile Orchestra.
Vocal solo—Mrs. Charles Elliott.
Tap Dancing—Betty Rore.
Accordeon solo—Frank Cartoscelli.

MINING TO MAKE MILLION DOLLAR FAIR EXHIBIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Thomas E. Campbell, former Governor of Arizona, and now Executive Vice President of Mining Exhibits, Inc., made public the fact that Barret & Hilp, contractors of San Francisco, have been awarded the contract for the construction of the gigantic mining exhibit at the Golden Gate International Exposition to be held here in 1939.

The plans for the mining exhibit, which will cost over $1,000,000, call for the erection of a huge mountain in the "Hall of the Mineral Empire" which will house the mining show. Visitors to Treasure Mountain will enter a valley between two towering ranges, and from its floor the illusion of distant peaks will be created by color and lighting. Actual geological strata with ore outcroppings will be transported from the Mother Lode country, and actual mining will be carried on in the artificial shafts. The balance of the floor space of the huge "Hall of the Mineral Empire" will contain mills in operation, oil refineries, fabrication methods, smelting processes, and other steps followed in the manufacture of products of the earth.

The mining show, said to be the most comprehensive educational effort ever attempted by the mining industry, has been developed through the efforts of the so-called "million dollar" Technical Committee of Mining Exhibits, Inc. Headed by Dr. Dorsey Lyon, the Technical Committee is comprised of such mining names as Dean Frank H. Probert of the University of California, Walter W. Bradley, State Mineralogist, Leroy H. Palmer, Gordon Gould, P. R. Bradley, F. L. Sizer, S. H. Ash, Thomas E. Campbell, Julian D. Conover, Stanley Easton, David M. Folsom, John A. Fulton, Ernest Gayford, Abbott A. Hanks, A. A. Hoffman, K. Van Ness King, F. L. Lowell, Jack Merrill, F. W. Nobs, W. J. O'Connor, Oliver C. Ralston, Dean Milnor Roberts, Emery Smith, Charles Thurman, F. C. Van Deinse, Rudolph Van Norden, Charles Willis, F. E. Wormser.

It is doubtful if such a galaxy of mining talent has ever before been brought together in a single effort such as this.

That the "Hall of the Mineral Empire" will be one of the outstanding exhibits in the history of World's Fairs is indicated through some of the commercial exhibits already planned. The United States Steel Co. will spend a quarter of a million dollars on their "Story of Steel"; the gold dredging industry will have an exhbit running into almost as much money; petroleum industries, $300,000; and gold mining $260,000.

The Week

By H. M. L. Jr.

It is downright unkind of Roosevelt's henchmen to threaten the American public at this time with a third term for the Personal Ruler. This country has already suffered worry enough because of the expensive extravaganza of New Deal social and economic experiments. The American audience has tired of the Administration's song and dance. The public has discovered that the purchase of tickets to the Roosevelt fantasy in government will keep it paying through the nose long after the curtain has dropped on the show. Now, in the midst of all the tribulations of the Roosevelt depression ,we are taunted by Senator Norris, who clarions that unless the public stops opposing the man in the White House, the hero Roosevelt will be forced (against his will) to run for a third term. It is really more than we should have to bear.

Of the evils which beset the United States, none is more disheartening than the possibility of an additional four years of government with Hyde Park charmer in the saddle. Roosevelt, blunder though he does, is not nearly as much a menace to democracy now, in his capacity of tight-rope walker between extreme leftism and genuine liberalism, as he would be to destroy the fundamental democratic precept of the two term limit There are few men of Presidential calibre, who could or would be as dangerous to the principles of democracy as Roosevelt, ensconced and intoxicated by a third victory at the polls. Surrounded by his chosen circle of leftist advisors, Roosevelt becomes a worshipper at the shrine of socialism. He has shown himself a man who thrills and glows and loses his respect for ideals not his own, when he hears the fanfare of victory.

Roosevelt wants a third term, Responsibility rests lightly on him. He indulges in the pleasures of the Presidency to a greater extent than almost any of his predecessors. Above all, some members of his family enjoy his Presidency. His older sons, were only moderately well off before the ascension and now are making money hand over fist. Besides powerful personal desire and family pressure the circle of left-wing advisors, assiduously suggests to the President that he must continue the role of Messiah to the American people and complete his so far uncertain course toward complete socialization and regimentation. Roosevelt will begin to believe his socialist syncophants if he is again re-elected. Having broken one democratic precedent with the consent of the voters, he will consider that he has another mandate from the people to break the rest of them.

The pinko intellectuals now consider it the fashion to brand as reactionary those who warn of Roosevelt's dictatorial tendencies. Sane thinkers realize that it is tempting the devil of fascism to give the added impetus of a third term to a powerful exponent of government in business of regimentation, and of personal government. The theory of the superiority of the incompetent reached its ridiculous apotheosis some time ago when PWA workers struck in different parts of the country. The elections in 1939 will be a tardy but still hopeful occasion for the recall of all such ideology and of the parlor pinks who, at no expense to themselves and tremendous expense to all but the exalted incompetents who benefited, foisted their wishful thinking upon the taxpayers in the form of unconstitutional laws. Most of these attempts have been fraudulent but not abandoned.

The court packing episode still smells. The picture of a President who had gathered to his breast more power than any of his peace-time predecessors, trying to set aside every remaining restraint upon his powers, was one which brought upon his head a nation-wide clamor of indignation. The free American people had not yet approached near enough the servile state of Fascist peoples, to condone that attempt to destroy their judicial protection. Roosevelt's insatiable greed for power as evinced in the court packing episode, bred mistrust in formerly loyal Democrats. The greed for power will still be there in 1939 and Roosevelt's Radical advisors will still urge him on to the creation of a state based on the exaltation of the inferior.

1939 CLASS RINGS

The class of 1939 class rings were received this week by the various students. Each year the junior class has the honor of picking out and buying their rings which will remind them in the future of their high scool days. 'SCOOP' THURMAN AGAIN IN RACE FOR ASSEMBLY

Allen G. Thurman, editor of The Colfax Record and former Colfax postmaster, today announced that he would be a candidate for the office of assemblyman from this district which comprises the counties of Nevada, Placer, El Dorado, Amador, Calaveras, Mono, Inyo, Mariposa, Tuolumne and Alpine. The office is now held by Jesse Mayo of Angels Camp, who last weke announced that he would not be a candidate for the assembly but would seek the senate post formerly held by Dan Williams.

"Scoop", as he is familiarly known in Nevada, Placer and El Dorado counties, the three largest in the district, was the last candidate to oppose Mayo, losing to the incumbent in 1934. In that campaign, Thurman carried both Nevada and Placer counties and received nearly half of the vates cast in El Dorado county for the Republican nomination.

Thurman has been a resident of the district for the past twenty years and has been editor of the Colfax Record since 1920. He served as post master under the Republican administration for nine years. He is well known in Nevada county for his interest in amateur sports, especially baseball He has been seretary of the Placer-Nevada baseball league since it was first organized in 1923. He is a member of the Grass Valley Lodge of Elks.

Among his various activities, Thurman is a director in the Donner Trail Association, a director of the Auburn Ski Club. He is also a member of the California Hydraulic Mining Association and the Sierra-Nevada Grange of Colfax. He is a past president of the Colfax Lions Club as well as past president of the Donner Council of Lions International. He is a member of the Placer County Sportsmens Association.

Being a member of a mining association, a sportsmens association and the Grange, quite naturally his platform will feature the leading industries of the district. Fish and game conservation as well as the conservation of natural resources will also be strong planks in his platform. He pledges himself to sane legislation and ecenomy in government.

He will issue his complete platform to the voters within a few weeks.

THE GOOD EARTH OPENS AT NEVADA THEATRE SUNDAY

Interpreting the color, spirit and personality of China, in terms of Occidental music rather than the popular conception of Oriental melodies, was the unique task of Herbert Stothart, eminent American composer, who was assigned to the musical score of "The Good Earth," costarring Paul Muni and Luise Ranier, and opening Sunday at the Nevada Theatre for two days.

The picture is based on the best-seller by Pearl S. Buck and the stage adaption by Owen Davis and Donald Davis.

"'Our problem was to accentuate the dramatic points of the story of 'The Good Earth' with music," explained Stothart. "Primarily it had to be music understood by the same people who understood the English book.

"Straight Chinese music, which depends on rhythm and effect, Tschaikowsky, for instance, took a Chinese minor strain for his 'Dance Chinois,' but retained little but the principle of a minor key.

"As a matter of fact, modern China is rapidly embracing our system of music. General Chang Chih-Kiang, while in Hollywood, listened to our scoring of 'Mutiny on the Bounty' with great pleasure and told me afterward that the bulk of phonograph records sold in China today are records of American and European symphony orchestras. These fit readily with the Chinese psychology."

NEW HIGHWAY SIGNS

Superintendent Fred Garrison of the State Division of Highways has had a crew installing signs on Pine street between Broad and Spring streets. Two of the new signs indicate "State Highway 20" and "State Highway 49", the no parking sign reads the same as one on the southern end of the Gault bridge, "maximum load not to exceed 3 tons on this bridge," Also a new no parking sign appears across from the Williamson garage where the street curb has a red line the full length. The signs will be of benefit to the traveling public.

REVENUE FOR FOREST SERVICE IN XMAS TREES

The Tahoe National Forest sold 14,340 Christmas trees to commercial dealers this season, according to DeWitt Nelson, forest supervisor at Nevada City. The total revenue was $3,937.96, or an average of 27 cents a tree. Six hundred fifty three permits were granted to local residents for a total of 1,200 trees, valued at $300. Nelson states that in 1936 the Tahoe sold 26,000 trees at an average price of 19 cents.

Mrs. William Maguire has returned Monday from a holiday visit with her son and daughter in the bay district.

BANK HEAD SAYS HOME BUILDING TIME IS NOW

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Home building may set the pace for the anticipated upswing in business activity in the New Year, according to President L. M. Giannini of the Bank of America.

He believes that conditions for home construction on the Pacific Coast are ideal under present FHA arrangements, and that prospective home builders have nothing to gain by waiting indefinitely for enactment of the proposed new housing program.

"This new program," said Giannini today, "is designed to aid poorly situated industrial workers in the crowded centers of the east. The present arrangement is exactly suited to the needs of our own Far West."

He declared that finances for home construction were never so available as now, and that this modern type of financing had joined with today's more efficient construction methods and lower priced land in actually reducing the cost of building. He pointed out definite advantages to prospective home owners in undertaking construction at once.

"Prices of well located property," he asserted, "certainly will not decline after the contemplated rush gets under way. In addition, contractors have their best workmen available now. Skilled, experienced mechanics do better work in less time, but to meet the demands of the so-called 'booms', workmen of lesser skill have to be drafted." He also commented on figures quoted by the building materials industry to support claims that most supplies are lower in cost than during the 1926-1929 period, and pointed to the increased use of portable machinery on construction jobs These are conditions, he maintained, which operate to keep down costs and make the present season the ideal one to launch a building program.

The financial leader asserted that by building his contemplated new home now the prospective owner saves time and money, helps his community, aids in the stimulation of business and employment and thus advances his own security and opportunities.

BARTON TO CHAMPION FORGOTTEN MIDDLE CLASS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Bruce Barton, elected to Congress in November from the seventeenth New York District, has quietly taken his seat with the House Republicans. After winning a national reputation as a writer and advertising expert, in his early fifties, he has entered a new field. Few Congressional freshmen have commanded greater attention from the politicians of both parties than Barton, whose election in November brought so much cheer to his fellow Republicans.

Barton has come to Washington with a definite idea as to his mission. He proposes to act as spokesman for the great Middle Class of Americans the forty million or more persons who gain their livelihood from productive enterprise, and pay the bulk of Uncle Sam's bills. In the maelstrom of pressure politics, and demands for subsidies by special groups, the army of Middle Class Americans as Barton sees it, has been forgotten.

LESSONS OF 1937 ARE VALUABLE IF STUDIED

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

The New Year, 1938—what does it portend?

For every Californian—and every man, woman and child—whether in America, in war-torn China, or in ships that toss on the seven seas—the gods of destiny weave a separate pattern.

No soothsayer can read the stars with accuracy for any number of the human race; the year 1937 is a well thumbed book whose pages we have read and turned, but the year 1938 is a new mystery we must live to understand.

If you gauge the future by an intelligent sutdy of the past, however, there are certain clues that are clearly defined — shoals that have been charted; trail and error lessons, painfully learned, but invaluable (if remembered) in averting minor and mapor tragedies in the year just ahead.

Here are just a few of the lessons of 1937 that should be written on your calendar at the start of 1938:

Stocks that go up invariably come down. Ask the man who owns some!

Freezes don't necessarily mean losses. Check with the citrus industry; By splendid cooperation between growers and government agencies, frozen fruit was carefully eliminated; buyer confidence was maintained. And total returns (to California growers) exceeded those of 1936.

Strikes, like wars, bring no victories. Both sides, in the end pay heavy toll for crass stupidity. Ask any striker—when the representative of his union isn't within hearing distance. Ask any employer—when he's checking his balance sheet!

The shell pocked Road to Glory of modern warfare is a blind street, ending in the funeral pyre or the cemetery. Ask the youth of China and Japan, of Spain, Italy and Ethiopia.

Wages, artifically boosted beyond the capacity of an employer to pay, are a snare and a delusion. Take a poll of America's jobless steel workers, its coal miners—the men in the auto factories, now working three days a week, if at all. Ask the unemployed railroad worker, or the distracted railroad executive, now seeking freight rate increases to pay the wage increases. Ask the farmer who must pick up the load if freight rates are upped!

Borrowing money to buy back prosperity, when carried to excess, means a terrific mortgage on every taxpayer's income. Check your tax bills!

National deficits—when they cross the danger line—must be written off by Tom, Dick and Harry in devalued currency. Ask the housewife, perturbed by the high cost of living and the sudden realization that her dollar won't buy a dollar's worth at the corner grocery!

Recessions and depressions — spelled differently—mean the same thing, financially, ask your merchant!

There are many other lessons to be learned from 1937 and other years gone by.

The test of democracy, for example, is the ability—or inability—of a people to work out its own destiny; to govern itself intelligently; to slow up when the road signs read: "Danger Ahead!"; to recognize that a successful society, like a successful marriage, must be a give and take proposition; to be ever mindful of the fact that there is no substitute for individual enterprise and initiative; to appreciate that public debt, like private debt, is a serious responsibility.

California, during 1938, will go to the polls to pass on many measures —good, bad and indifferent. And how California voters will have an important bearing on how they prosper or suffer, not only in 1938, but in the years to come. How America votes in the next few years—and how it acts, in its individual exercise of the rights of citizenship—may determine whether America shall remain a democracy. What does 1938 portend? You and your neighbors may determine it!

FOR THE DOWN PAYMENT ON YOUR HOME

MODERN, liberal home loan policies of Bank of America and the F.H.A. are enabling thousands of men and women to build their homes with only a relatively small investment. Actually, today you can build a home if you have only 20% of the value of the house and the lot. This means that if you have one-fifth, you may borrow the other four-fifths through Bank of America.

With a thousand dollars or even less you can build a modern small home. Save your "down payment" in a Bank of America savings account.

When you have acquired the down payment you may buy or build the home you want and the money you now spend for rent will meet the easy monthly payments.

RECREATION PARKS IMPROVED BY CCC BOYS

Camp Grass Valley for CCC boys has a group of new arrivals mostly from around Stockton. The new boys are settled in camp and work started on tables and cement stoves for the several tourist camps the Tahoe National Forest maintains for the traveling public.

There are 170 boys at Bradley CCC camp near Forest Hill. These boys are also making tables and cement stoves but will soon be put to work on the Baker Ranch-Mosquito creek bluff trail which has been under construction for several years.

The flood waters of the Truckee river near Cisco washed away some camp equipment which will be replaced and the camps are also to be enlarged for next year. Some of the new equipment will be sent to Tahoe-Ukiah CCC summer camp at White Cloud east of Nevada City. This camp ground is proving quite popular. It is easy of access and is in a beautiful heavily timbered section.

The Bureau of Agriculture and Engineering is putting on a national broadcast every Friday evening between 6:30 and 6:45 over the red network. The local Tahoe National Forest headquarters reports by wire to the broadcasting company on local conditions at the different ski and sports grounds constructed and maintained by the forest service.

One of the ski courses is at the foot of Mt. Rose on the eastern slope half way between Lake Tahoe and Reno. A stone ski shelter has been constructed and the ski jump and slalom have just been completed. CCC boys are working on a ski trial sign near Norden near the Summit. They have cleared a very fine ski trail which is intended to be a part of a trunk ski trail planned by the Sierra Club of California.

A new forest service lookout has just been completed under supervision of W. P. Lee on the forest service staff, at Columbia Hill. This lookout will cover the Tyler country.

The Tahoe National Forest service management is well pleased with results obtained in reforstry on the large burned over area in the Forest Hill divide, the past season. Fire destroyed hundreds of acres of timber in this district about two years ago.

DAMAGE SUIT SETTLED

CAMPTONVILLE, Dec. 30.—The damage suit started in the local justice court by Jos. Svoboda against Miss Ruth Funk of Long Beach was dismissed on motion of attorney for the defendant when they settled the claim in full, paying the damages done to the Svoboda car in an automobile collision which took place near here last July.

NEW TRIAL FOR MRS. BISHPAN

In the superior court Tuesday Mrs. Alice Bishpan, in the case of the People vs. Alice Bishpan, was granted her petition for a new trial. The alleged crime of which Mrs. Bishpan had been convicted was the burning of the Taylor building at Neal and South Church street in Grass Valley on July 4.

The motion for a new trial was argued by Attorney Shirving of Sacramento, attorney for Mrs. Bishpan contending the evidence insufficient to warrant the conviction. District Attorney Vernon Stoll opposed the granting of a new trial and after the decision announced that he would take an appeal from the decision of Judge Tuttle. If this is done the trial of the case will not be held until it is determined by the District Court of Appeal to whom the case will be taken.

On October 29 the Nevada County Grand Jury returned an indictment against Mrs. Bishpan and a jury found her guilty on two counts of the indictment on November 24. Mrs. Bishpan has been in the county jail in the meantime.

Judge Raglan Tuttle, after hearing the motion for a new trial in the superior court Tuesday and considering the arguments and evidence offered for and against, in passing on the motion stated:

"The motion is made upon the ground that the evidence is insufficient in that the prosecution failed to prove that any crime had been committed. The only evidence connecting the defendant with the commission of any crime was certain admissions made by her to the effect that she offered to pay two witnesses if they would burn the building. One of these witnesses was a paroled convict serving time for murder and the other was a man who drove a taxi a short time in Grass Valley and who now resides in Idaho. Defendant denied that she made the statements.

"It is conceded by the District Attorney that the conviction cannot stand unless there is independent evidence in the record tending to prove that the fire was of incendiary origin — that it was intentionally started by someone. The law is, that the admissions made or purported to have been made by defendant cannot be considered at all unless the People first proved that a crime had been committed by someone. The case of People vs. Jenkins, 67 Cal. App, 631, is directly in point. In that case the prosecution merely proved that the building burned down. They then introduced a confession made by the defendant. The higher court set aside the convictions, because the prosecution had failed to prove that the fire was of human origin."

"There is no evidence showing how this fire started. The record shows that the buildings burned, but the origin of the fire is unexplained, except for the admissions which cannot be considered in that connection. The prosecution contends that there are circumstances which will support the conclusion that the fire was of human origin, such as the fact that the fire burned so rapidly, but that is not unusual on a hot summer day, and the building was an old frame structure. They also point out that the fire started in the atttic which was clear of debris. In the opinion of the court the evidence as to the incendiary character falls short of the requirements of the law, and the conviction therefore cannot be sustained. Unless further and additional evidence on this point can be produced it would seem to be useless to continue the prosecution."

The motion was argued by Attorney Skirving of Sacramento, attorney for Mrs. Bishpan, contending the evidence insufficient to warrant the conviction District Attorney Vernon Stoll opposed the granting of a new trial, citing legal authorities that he averred would sustain the conviction.

Upon making the order granting the new trial, Judge Tuttle set Tuesday, February 1, as the date for the second trial.

District Attorney Vernon Stoll announced that he would take an appeal from the decision of Judge Tuttle. If this is done the trial of the case will not be held until ti is determined by the District Court of Appeal to whom the case will be taken.

The alleged crime of which Mrs. Bishpan was convicted was the burning of the Taylor building at the corner of Neal and South Church streets in Grass Valley in which she operated a beauty parlor on the afternoon of July 4. The fire spread to adjoining buildings on South Church street and a loss of more than $10,000 was entailed.

It was reported the Grass Valley Fire Department had a "tip" the fire was to occur, but attempts to offer this in evidence at the trial were ruled out by the court as heresay. At the hour of the fire Ernest Penrose, chief of the Grass Valley fire department, and an investigator of the Board of Fire Underwriters, were near at hand, allegendly on the watch for the expected fire.

The work of gathering evidence began at once with the result that it was presented to the Grand Jury which returned an indictment against Mrs. Bishpan on October 22nd, a jury finding her guilty on two of the counts in the indictment, on November 24.

Mrs. Helen Wolfe, granddaughter of the late Mrs. Catherine Penrose arrived from Arizona to attend the funeral of her grandmother today at two o'clock.
